

Dear Manchester Families and Staff,

I just wanted to inform you about some water damage that occurred at Manchester Elementary School last night. Due to the high winds snow backed up on the roof and drifted into a louver then it melted and ran down along the duct work in Vicki McMullen's classroom. After discovering it this morning Serve Pro was called and came on site immediately to remediate. Ed Antz, Risk and Safety Manager from Maine School Management was in the district on a different matter meeting with Curt Morse, Director of Operations and Maintenance. They both came down to Manchester and Mr. Antz is satisfied that we had acted quickly and appropriately. Serve Pro has drying equipment that will be here working all weekend in Mrs. McMullen's room. They will return on Monday to inspect the work. A small amount of water also leaked into the reading room next door and Serve Pro fans have been placed in that room as well.

I will keep you updated. Please contact me if you have more questions.

Thank you,
Janet Delmar
